Commission "Sold" on Scenic Highway

Had Senator E. S. Rigdon and Frank H, Powers, whose big dream was that a magnificent standard highway be constructed from Carmel to San Simeon, been alive last Monday, they would have been overjoyed.

They would heard Harvey M. Toy, president of the state highway commission, declare before forty road enthusiasts gathered in San Francisco last Monday afternoon that he and his fellow commissioners were "sold" on the Carmel-San Simeon highway.

But the only [illegible] which this desirable improvement can be attained and paid for is by another state bond issue,

When the Pollock and other contracts are completed there will be no money available to complete the remaining thirty-seven miles. In fact, the original million and a half dollars and two hundred thousand dollars in addition will be required to finish the present work under contract.

At the aforesaid meeting representatives from many commercial bodies, boards of supervisors, [illegible] on hand at the invitation of Dr. J. L. D. Roberts, county supervisor of this district, to discuss road matters.

The great majority of those present, including Dr. Roberts himself, were led to believe that there was still $60,000 of the original bond issue money on hand, and with this sum it was intended to ask the highway commission to put through what chairman Toy afterwards termed "a wagon."

When it was disclosed that there was no sixty thousand dollars, or any other sum, on hand, this limited road plan had to be abandoned and Mr. Toy's working watchful waiting plan unanimously adopted.

So, we will get our highway eventually, but not now.

Carmel representatives at the meeting were J. F. Devendorf, John B. Jordan and W. L. Overstreet. Monterey and Pacific Grove men in attendance included Allen Griffin, Geo. Salterbach, J. L. D. Roberts, Ernest Doelter, A. Matthias, P. Scofield, C. E. Jewell, H. A. Ingalls, and Jack Beaumont of the Del Monte Properties Co.

Pollock Wins Suit Against Commission

The supreme court of the State of California has rendered a decision holding that the State Highway Commission had no authority to use State Highway construction funds to pay premiums on cancelled contracts, where work had already been started.

This decision was rendered in the case of the Pollock Construction Company, whose $3,000,000 contract for work on the Carmel-San Simeon (coast) Highway had been cancelled last spring and settlement offered in the sum of $1,230,000.

Leidig Accepts Agency for Fire Extinguisher

Robt. G. Leidig resigns the managership of Holman's Carmel store today to accept the position of district manager for the Fyr Fyter Co. of Dayton, Ohio. Fire prevention and fire protection will be his theme. Bob is one of our premier fire fighters and it is safe to predict he will go big in this very essential work.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Hooper and son Pardow of San Francisco were week-enders in their home on Camino Real last week.

Pine Inn to Have Addition

An indication of the growing popularity of Carmel with the traveling public, vacationers, and diners out from near-by communities, is the announcement of John B. Jordan, proprietor of Pine Inn, of his intention to add a large number of rooms to his hostelry.

Work on this proposed increase in accommodations at Carmel's pioneer and widely-known hotel will begin almost immediately.

Just at present extensive alterations and repairs are under way in the kitchen, and new ranges and other equipment are to be installed. When this work is completed, under the direction of M. J. Murphy, work will begin on the new addition on the northwest portion of the present building.

Supplementing the foregoing improvements, he has plans, not definitely formulated, for erecting a number of cottages on his lots west of Pine Inn.

School Closes Next Week

The local public school will not be in session next week, the teaching staff being in attendance at the Institute at Santa Cruz.

Registration week begins on Monday, October 15. All children 8 to 18 years old, attending public or private school or not in school at all, must be registered at the local public school by parents or those having the children in charge. Failure to comply with the law is a misdemeanor.

Traveling Folks Entertained Here

Recent guests at Gray Gables were Arthur Henshaw of Manila, Mrs. A. S. Bacon of New York and Mrs. H. H. Tinker, en route for Valparaiso, who, after crossing the Andes, will return to New York, completing three years of travel. She expects to spend the coming summer in Carmel. Another guest was Miss Mathieson of Copenhagen, Denmark, on her way to China.

Art Critic Here for Brief Visit

Mrs, Bertha Ribani, artist, critic and lecturer on art and oriental subjects, spent the week end in Carmel at the home of Mrs. R. B. Thudichum, with whom she was sojourning in Hollywood for the past month. Mrs. Ribani left Wednesday to visit friends in San Francisco. Mrs. Thudichum and daughter Carol are now visiting relatives in Denver, but expect to return to Carmel early next month.

City Bonding for Sewer Opposed

The tentative proposition to bond this city to the extent of at least $100,000 for sewer construction purposes is not meeting with much, if any, favor from the taxpayers.

Everyone realizes the urgent necessity for an adequate sewer system here. But there is strong objection to a bond issue.

It is asserted that in a city where so large a volume of real estate is constantly changing hands, where building is active and where much more building is contemplated, it would not be wise to saddle these sales and improvements with a bond tax.

In many instances owners of property, improved and unimproved, are obliged to borrow money from banks and others on their holdings. It is contended that lenders are reluctant to make loans on property upon which a bond issue is a lien.

Property owners much prefer that the proposed sewer installation be financed as has some of our recent street work. That is, proceeding with the work by districts, assessing the cost on the property along which the improvement is made, said work to be paid for when completed or allowing payment to be made over a term of years.

Screen Showing of Lompoc Expedition

Arrangements have been completed here for the first showing of the films and slides obtained by the Worthington Astronomical Expedition to Lompoc. George E. Stone, producer of educational motion pictures, has prepared a wonderful series of pictures of the eclipse and incidents relating thereto.

The affair is to take place in Manzanita Hall next Friday evening, and is for the benefit of the Carmel Library.

City Planners Agree That the Harrison Library Site be Sold

In their plan to locate the Harrison Memorial Library on Block 69, owned by the city, the city trustees are backed up by the city planning commission, which at a recent meeting adopted a motion similar to that of the trustees, and recommended that the Harrison lots bequeathed to the city be sold and the receipts be used to purchase books and equipment.

Planning Grove Music Season

The Pacific Grove Musical Society has sent out a statement to the guarantors setting forth the standing of the society financially and otherwise and explaining the aims for the forthcoming season.

It was shown that, in order to make a success of the next concert season it would be necessary to have some sort of guarantee which would assure the financial success of the enterprise. To promote successfully six concerts during the season 1923-1924, a plan is devised to secure at least 400 pledges of $3 each. Such pledge entitles the signer to admission to six concerts contemplated for the season. When 400 pledges have been received season tickets will be issued and delivered. These tickets are transferable, so that it will be possible for holders to favor a friend if unable to attend the concert.

Forest Theater Annual Summer Play Contest

Rules, regulations and data concerning the annual play contest under the auspices of The Forest Theater have been issued by Susan C. Porter, secretary of the organization.

The prize is one hundred dollars.

A full evening's play is desired for presentation on an out door stage, 56 by 60 feet. There is no limit as to scope or subject.

The summer of 1924 is the time for presentation. Manuscripts must be in the hands of the secretary at Carmel not later than February 1st.

The right to accept or reject plays submitttd remains with the directors of The Forest Theater corporation, and any play or plays chosen will remain the property of the author after production

Pine Needles

Next Monday evening there will be a special program and social time at the Reading Circle. Mrs. Sydney Yard will also read.

Mr, and Mrs. Ancil King of Alameda, who have been sojourning here for a week in their cottage on Junipero street, left for their home last Monday.

Mrs. C. Chapel Judson and family of Berkeley, have taken the Elizabeth Morgan cottage at Lincoln and Eighth for October. They lost their home in the Berkeley fire.

E. K. Blood of Bakersfield, many years ago a resident here, will again be a Carmel business man. He has purchased from L. E. Payne the recently established grocery on Dolores street.

Among Los Angeles golf enthusiasts here to take part in the Del Monte golf tournament are W. R. Rennacker and N. R. Randolph Both are here with their wives and are registered at Pine Inn.

Miss Eunice T. Gray, one of our pioneer Carmelites, is here from Palo Alto to spend the winter. Up to a short time ago she was dean of the select Starrett school for girls in Chicago.

Col. S. F. Dutton and son, who spent the summer in Europe, are again at the Carmel Highlands. Mrs. Dutton, accompanied by the Criley family, who have been abroad for a year, will arrive here about November 1st.

Origin and History of a Famous Old Battle Hymn

That thrilling old hymn, "Hold the Fort," has been lustily sung all over the world wherever the English language is known. Few people, however, are aware of its dramatic origin.

The exciting event which caused Philip Paul Bliss to write this hymn occurred during the Civil war. In the autumn of 1864, just before Gen. William T. Sherman commenced his famous march to the sea, while his army was camping near Atlanta, General Hood, of the Southern forces, slipped around Sherman's right flank, and gaining the rear, began tearing up the railroad tracks leading northward, and capturing the small garrisons left along the line.

Hearing of this movement, Sherman started his army in hot pursuit in order to save the supplies and larger posts, the most important being located at Altoona Pass, a defile in the Altoona range of mountains, traversed by the railway.

General Corse, of Illinois, with about 1,500 Minnesota and Illinois soldiers, was in command of the Pass. A million and a half rations were stored here, and it was highly important that they be kept out of the clutches of the enemy. Hood detailed Gen. French, with 6,000 men, to take the enemy. Soon the works [illegible] and Corse was asked to surrender. Corse refused, and the battle was on. Many were killed, and the remainder driven into a small fort on top of the hill. An officer saw a white signal flag being frantically waved from the summit of Kenesaw mountain, fifteen miles away. The signal was answered and this heartening message was waved from mountain to mountain: "Hold the Fort; I am coming. W. T. Sherman." Everybody cheered and determined not to give up. More than half the men in the little fort were either killed or wounded. Gen. Corse was shot three times through the head, but the brave fellows held the fort for three hours, until Sherman came up and French was obliged to retreat.

Mr. Bliss, the author of this notable hymn, was born in Clearfield county, Pa., in 1838, and was killed in a railway accident near Ashtabula, O., in 1876. His youth was spent in the wilds of Pennsylvania, working on farms and at wood chopping. At the age of ten he heard a piano for the first time. The sweet music came from the open door of an stranger's house. It lured the happy little boy into the open doorway. He stood there in awe and wonder until the music ceased. When the performer turned and saw the ragged and barefooted kiddie, he angrily ordered him out of the house. He was one of those cold-blooded fellows whose music was only in his head and fingers—not from the heart.

The boy studied and read whenever and wherever possible. His soul yearned for music. In 1857 he attended a singing school at Towanda, Pa. In the summer of 1860 he managed somehow to attend the normal academy of music at Geneseo, N. Y. During the ten years from 1864 to 1874 he wrote the songs that made him a national figure. A meeting with Dwight L. Moody, the famous evangelist, started him on the highroad to country-wide popularity.

Other popular hymns written by Bliss were: "Pull for the Shore, Sailor," "Hallelujah! 'Tis Done!" "Jesus Loves Me," and "Down Life's Dark Vale We Wander."

Pine Cone's Log of Literature & Art

Quick Writes a Good One

When Herbert Quick writes a story it is the time for every one to sit up and take notice; for he is one of the most verssatile and entertaining geniuses in this country. Farmer, school master, lawyer, editor, public servant, social worker and novelist, he has had a great round of experiences and has worked many of them into stories. Born in Grundy county, Iowa, he has been mayor of Sioux City, nominee for supreme judge, editor of Farm and Fireside, member of the Federal Farm Loan bureau and several other national commissions, and during the war, had the rank of colonel conferred upon him by the Red Cross.

In "The Brown Mouse," Mr. Quick has taken his inspiration from the Scotch scientist who crossed Japanese waltzing mice with the common white breed and among other hybrids got a brown individual that was different from anything else in the world. Unlike its domesticated parents, it was wild; it ran away, bit, gnawed, scratched and raised hob generally.

Jim Irwin, the hero of the tale, is a brown mouse. His meddling father was a waltzing mouse, no good except to jump from one spot to another for no valid reason. His mother was a white mouse, having had all her color washed out in one way or another. Like the brown mouse which refuses to act according to the rules of heredity, Jim had ideas of his own and did many surprising things. He completely woke up a sleepy farming community and showed it what a touch of genius can do.

John D. Beginning to Decorate

A gigantic sculptured group of Adam and Eve, each figure about 25 feet high and weighing 125 tons, designed and hewn from pure white Carrara marble by George Grey Barnard, has been purchased by John D. Rockefeller and will be erected in a "garden of Eden" on the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills, N. Y., it was learned today.

The group, so posed that Eve seems to be rising out of a rib of Adam, will be placed in a marble arched background now being completed by Italian sculptors on the Rockefeller estate, when Barnard returns from a month's vacation in Canada.

Two Barnard statues already stand near the site intended for Adam and Eve. One, "The Rising Woman," shows womanhood rising to a new strength; the other, "The Hewer," shows a nude man attempting to break a piece of timber with a primitive weapon.

The Adam and Eve group is one of the boldest conceptions of the subject ever shown. It took Rockefeller two years to overcome a belief that the nude in art was demoralizing.

Some fifteen years ago he refused to examine "The Hewer," then newly sculptured. Years later he, by chance, saw the figure in Barnard's studio and, impressed by its strength, purchased it.

Among Barnard's other works is the bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln, at Cincinnati, a replica of which, executed for erection in London, finally was set up in Manchester, England, after it had caused a bitter controversy in art circles. He also is represented in many art museums in this country and abroad.

The New Thriller

The summertime reader would rather have a true account of pirates or shooting seals in the Arctic than e'en a love story, declares Nathan R. Levin, assistant librarian of the Chicago public library, who has been studying the tastes of the general reader for years.

"That does not mean that the love story has become unfashionable," Mr. Levin added. "It means rather that at vacation time everybody temporarily forgets his desire to get on in his own business or personal affairs and prefers to read about cinnamon-colored savages of the south seas or trapping wombats in the wilds of Australia."

Thumbnail Sketches

The "Quiet Singer" of "Manhattan," Charles Hanson Towne, is an author, editor and man about the literary town well known and loved by many for his work—and his play. His two latest books, "Loafing Down Long Island" and "Ambling Through Acadia," have been published by The Century Co., and have added altogether charming territory to the kingdom of his pen.

The oil portrait of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, has been painted by Ralph Clarkson, well-known Chicago artist, for the state of Illinois and will hang in the executive office at Springfield with the portraits of twenty-five other governors of Illinois.

The faking of sculpture has reached such proportions in France that a movement is on foot to forbid the departure of any art work from that country unless the sale is approved by the Ministry of Fine Arts and a group of connoisseurs.

The Roosevelt Newsboys' Association of Boston has started a movement to have every newsboy in the country contribute one cent to a collection of pennies to be melted down and made into a miniature reproduction of Laddie Boy, former President Harding's famous dog. The statuette is to be presented to Mrs. Harding.

GET IN AND HELP

Carmel is a pretty good town. We all admit it, and are proud of it. But there is one fly in the community ointment that prevents us from advancing as rapidly as we should.

Everybody is willing to have things done, but wants to "let George do it," and when George reaches a certain point he balks. He gets tired of carrying the whole load. What we need is a greater spirit of co-operation, a willingness on the part of each one to do his or her share in the advancement of our community interests.

In every community there are always a few who are willing to work for the public good. They are the Georges. There are also a lot of others who are willing to let them do it. They are not Georges.

Once in a while we read of some town that keeps booming and shoving right along regardless of conditions or handicaps. Such a town is full of Georges, and because the Georges are so numerous none of them are overworked and there is no occasion for balking.

OHIO HAS A REMARKABLE RECORD

Since Lincoln's death men of Ohio have been the standard bearers of the Republican party in every national campaign but three—these three being Blaine of Maine and Roosevelt and Hughes of New York. Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Harrison, McKinley, Taft and Harding constitute a galaxy of greatness in which any commonwealth would have a right to feel the deepest pride. Strangely enough, Massachusetts, with Virginia, the state of greatest influence in public leadership in the earlier days of the Republic, and with many leaders of eminence in all th years since, has in Calvin Coolidge her first President since John Quincy Adams, and Coolidge was born in Vermont.

SHALL WE LET DOWN THE BARS?

Immigration is a live subject. Many signs point to a "let down the bars" movement against the present immigration law (the recent hint of Mr. Gary is only one of many such symptoms). Annoyance and chagrin at the hardships and outrageous individual situations involved in the quota law as at present written and administered are almost universal. "The Old World in the New," by Dr. Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, will be of very persent interest to many citizens. It is not a new book, though a recent one; it does not discuss the present law. But it gives a survey of the whole subject that is not only intensely interesting reading but may be said to be a necessity to one who wishes to judge wisely in this matter. Economic, biological, racial, social, educational and political aspects are discussed, with the rare humanness Dr. Ross knows how to put into his work; but it is primarily a book of facts—illuminated facts.

Words Without Meaning—

For example—The word "Exclusive."

It means nothing unless backed by a product whose name means a whole lot. There are dozens of makes of men's clothing for which we prefer that some other store claim exclusive control in this city. But for Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes we are not only glad but proud to claim exclusive representation.

A variety of models—such as THE SAXON, in patterns that are "exclusive" in the sense that they appeal to the man with discriminating taste.
